Front cover information

Bidara (Ziziphus mauritiana) is a small fruit-producing tree that grows in dry areas. The tree is small, usually crooked, up to 15 m high, and has a trunk of up to 40 cm. The branches are spreading and often drooping, with the branches growing tangled and short-haired—always green or semi-shed leaves. The supporting leaves are spines, alone and straight, or dimorphic in pairs, the latter being shorter and curved, sometimes spineless. Single leaves are located alternately. Leaf blade elliptical or oval; flat-edged or slightly edging; bare and glossy on the upper side, and densely whitish felt on the underside; with three prominent visible leaf bones parallel to each other; short stem.

Guideline for Author

Journal of Electrical Engineering and Computer Sciences (JEECS) is a scientific journal that presents and updated scientific articles in the field of Electrical Engineering and Computer Sciences research among academics and practitioners alike, including power system, electrical engineering, industry automation, computer sciences, informatics, and information system.

Manuscripts submitted to JEECS should accomplish the following checklist:

- The submission has not been previously published, nor is it before another journal for consideration (or an explanation has been provided in Comments to the Editor).
- The submission file is in Microsoft Word document file format.
- Where available, URLs for the references have been provided.
- The text is single-spaced; uses a 12-point font; employs italics, rather than underlining (except with URL addresses); and all illustrations, figures, and tables are placed within the text at the appropriate points, rather than at the end.
- The text adheres to the stylistic and bibliographic requirements outlined in the Author Guidelines.

Journal Publication Policy

Publication of articles in JEECS is dependent solely on scientific validity and coherence as judged by our editors and/or peer reviewers, who will also assess whether the writing is comprehensible and whether the work represents a useful contribution to the field. JEECS acknowledged the effort and suggestions made by its reviewers.
